A Life Preserver

Usually this sea of life is not so rough but what we can swim along all right. Sometimes, however, the wind blows hard against us and big waves come up. Then we have to use every bit of reserve strength to make headway or even to just barely hold our own. Many times we go back, once and awhile we go down. These big waves are "accidents," and a policy in the STANDARD LIFE AND ACCIDENT CO., is surely a life preserver.

J. Lor Is Still Out Of Jail

WALLACH OF HIS RIGHT TO MOVE FOR A NEW TRIAL WAS DEFERRED UNTIL MONDAY.

The J. Lor Wallach agony drags on for two days more. This morning the sentence of the man for perjury, came up before Judge De Bolt. But Thompson and Clemons and W. C. Achi the attorneys for the defendant, were in court to present their motion for a new trial.

Attorney General Peters who has taken personal direction of the prosecution of Wallach, raised the point that the defendant has waived the right to make a motion for a new trial, because he filed a motion for arrest of judgment the day following the verdict of the jury. This motion was denied by the court. He quoted a large number of authorities in support of this contention.

The stand taken by the prosecution seemed to have the effect on C. F. Clemons of counsel for the defence, that a blow in the stomach with a lung starter would produce on the object of the blow. Clemons said he was not prepared to argue on the point raised by the Attorney General and asked for a continuance. The court said that it did not desire to be unfair to the defendant or counsel, so would grant a continuance until Monday at 1 p. m. Clemons can then make his argument.

The Attorney General asked that unless a new bond of $500 be filed by noon today J. Lor be taken into custody.

The first patient to be subjected to the treatment was Mrs. William Dreiscow, 31 years of age. When Dr. George L. ## Washee Washee Bill Killed

HOUSE MEMBERS AFRAID OF
MEASURE TO REGULATE PUBLIC
LAUNDRIES AND KILL IT.

Sheldon's laundry bill, to regulate the establishing of public laundries, and license the same, this being intended to supersede the present system of government control of the wash houses at Iwilei, and covertly designed to knock out the Chinese competitors of the steam laundries.

Rawlins found fault with the bill which contained a lot of requirements for making application and filing plans of heating plants and other red tape, which he thought was aimed to give the steam laundries an exclusive monopoly of the laundry business in Honolulu.

Sheldon said first that the provision regarding heating plant was to guard against fire.

Rawlins pointed out that this was otherwise graded against by requiring that the buildings and equipment be approved by the fire commission.

Sheldon denied that the bill was aimed to restrict the laundry business to any certain class.

Rawlins said he didn't propose to vote for a bill which prescribed who should be permitted to iron his shirts.

Kanaho moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. He said the bill appeared to him to deprive any person from doing laundry work unless they use machinery in their process. He said it would take the washing business out of the hands of the poor, and the first thing we know, a man will be paying 50 cents to get his coat washed where now he gets it done for 5 cents.

He stated that he had been on the committee which investigated the Iwilei wash houses, and also the steam laundries. He hadn't anything to say against the steam laundries, but he didn't see that there was objection to washing by hand if it was supervised properly. He couldn't remember of any trouble ever having resulted from this system.

Kalelopu asserted that a monopoly of the laundry business was contemplated by the bill, and that certain parties are desirous of crowding out others in the work. He said it was possible to regulate the hand laundries in regard to sanitation. He said it would discriminate not only against Chinamen, but against many women who support themselves by washing.

Japanese Undertaker Killed By Trolley Car

MOTORMAN SAW HUMAN LEG ON RAIL TOO LATE TO STOP LAST NIGHT.

Kaimuki electric car 22, driven by Bloom and conducted by Fern, last night at 11:30, near Moiliili, ran over K. Sansui the Japanese embalmer employed by the Honolulu Undertaking Company, the Jap dying early this morning in the Queen's hospital. Coroner Jarett has called a session for this evening.

Motorman Bloom, when it was too late to bring his car to a stand, observed the leg of a man lying across one of the rails. He brought up hard with the body of a man under the wheels. The police were notified and the badly injured Japanese was hurried to the hospital.

Two ribs were broken and one leg was nearly severed from the body. Sansui was about 40 years of age, married, leaving a wife and several children. He was a good embalmer and had been in the business ten or twelve years in this city. He was not known as a drinking man and his friends are at a loss to understand how he came to be lying with a leg across the electric car track.

THE BOARD'S ANSWER TO WALLACH RESOLUTION

TELLS THE LEGISLATURE IT WILL NOT YIELD TO THE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION BECAUSE CONVINCED THAT WALLACH HAS
"NO MEDICAL TRAINING OR CAPACITY TO DIAGNOSE OR TREAT DISEASE" AND "IS UNWORTHY OF CONFIDENCE."

The Wallach matter was sprung early this morning in both House and Senate. To the Senate President Pinkham of the Board of Health sent an answer to the Makekau resolution of inquiry of yesterday, saying that the matter had been considered by the Board yesterday and its decision was presented in another communication.

This communication was as follows: "The Resolution of the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, whereby is requested of the Board of Health that it permit one J. Lor Wallach to treat lepers at the Kalaheo Receiving Station according to the provisions of Section 1127 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii, has been duly considered in executive session and we beg leave to reply.

"Of the known qualifications of Mr. Wallach to treat persons effected with the disease commonly known as Chinese Leprosy, this Board is not advised further than by his advertisements. His public utterances claim him to possess a cure for the disease, but by what means, tangible or intangible, such cure can be effected, he refuses to divulge. On the other hand, he has publicly shown himself to possess no medical training of capacity to diagnose or treat disease, and to be absolutely unworthy of confidence.

"Under these circumstances we do not think he is a fit and proper person to trust with the treatment of any disease, leprosy or otherwise, of wards of the Territory, and we regret to say that the request must consequently be refused."

The communications were placed on file. There was no discussion over the matter. Coelho asked about the letter from the President of the Board of Health relative to the bacteriologist. He wanted to know why the Health Committee had not made the letter public. He was told by Senator Smith that the letter had been received while he was absent and it could now be considered.

IN THE HOUSE.
The Board of Health addressed a communication to the House regarding the permitting of "Dr." J. Lor Wallach to practice on the lepers at Molokai settlement, in which it stated in positive terms that it would not let the "Doctor" carry out his wishes. The letter stated that the Board had carefully considered the matter and found that Wallach possesses no qualifications that would be worthy of consideration and that therefore it has refused to sanction his practicing on the wards of the Territory.

The speaker stated that it was clear that the Board did not intend to comply with the concurrent resolution of the House, and therefore turned the communication over to the Health committee to investigate.
